Fortunate, indeed, are the youth whose education is protected by the torch of liberty.

Foreword...

We, the students of Strong Vincent High School, in order to show the value of an education in developing citizens who may intelligently appreciate and protect for the future, the blessings of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, enjoyed by ourselves and our predecessors, present this 1941 Spokesman, proclaiming the advantages of a democratic system of education.

Jo Anna Connell

When only sixteen Miss Connell accepted her first teaching position in a rural school, commencing a lifetime of service. Even at this early age she capably handled classes some of whom were older than their teacher. Her ability to handle and sympathize with young people is perhaps due to the fact that she shared the responsibility of caring for her younger brothers and sisters. She completed the work for her college degree by taking extension and summer school courses at Edinboro State Normal School and Grove City College, receiving her A.B. degree from the latter.

She has a keen sense of humor that has never failed her; and, although intensely interested in the scholastic attainments of her students, she never has lost sight of the human element. She has never spared herself; and has proven charitable in both thought and deed. She loves people in general and youth in particular. Her door is always open to friends, students, fellow-teachers, who come for encouragement, help, guidance, or just because they love her.

We hold these truths to be self evident:

That Jo Anna Connell, by loyal service to the cause of youth, has earned the respect and devotion of the students and parents of Erie;

That she gave to her boys and girls, not only an understanding of great literature, but a concept of the highest principles of life;

That through her appreciation of human character she gained the power of teaching others the joy to be derived from learning eagerly, working willingly, and serving unselfishly;

That we the students of Strong Vincent, attempting to express the appreciation of the men and women of Erie for the strength and guidance that she has given them, dedicate, with pride, this 1941 Spokesman to Jo Anna Connell.

FACULTY and ADMINISTRATION

The foundation of every state is the education of its youth.—Diogenes

Charles W. Eliot

Harold D. Leberman—B.S. Allegheny; M.Ed. University of Pittsburgh. Principal. Chairman, District Ten Committee, P.I.A.A.

Mr. Harold D. Leberman

A little over a year ago, Strong Vincent met its present principal, Mr. Harold D. Leberman. Contrary to the circumstances that often arise when executives of a school are changed, he was greeted with enthusiasm by teachers and students alike. While Mr. Leberman brought his own system and way of doing things, before he made any changes or initiated reforms of any kind, he made friends.

He made friends with the teachers, with the janitorial and cafeteria staffs, with the office clerks; and he made personal contact with virtually every one of Vincent's student population of sixteen hundred boys and girls. Before long he had cast aside, by his friendliness and ever cheerful attitude, the stigma of being "new" and of being the "boss," and became known to all as "pal."

Known throughout Erie for his association with students of all ages, Mr. Leberman has recently been appointed chairman of the District 10 Committee of the P.I.A.A. Acting in his capacity as principal of Strong Vincent he has, in the short time he has been here, helped many boys and girls to overcome difficulties and to mount the first step of the ladder to success.

Ellen F. Connell—A.B. College of St. Catherine; M.Ed. University of Pittsburgh. Assistant Principal. Adviser—A Cappella.

Mrs. Geraldine Weindorf Rhoades
—Erie Business College. Head
Clerk. Resigned January 2, 1941.

Mary Sullivan—Central High School. Head Clerk.

Dorothy Wingerter—Erie Business
College. Office Clerk.

Information Please

Every nation has its leaders and its followers; every business has its executives and its employees; every school has its principals and its office clerks; and Strong Vincent is no exception.

Our assistant principals, Miss Ellen Connell and Mr. F. S. Anderson, in collaboration with Mr. Leberman, watch over the safety and welfare of the students and are often instrumental in obtaining aid for worthy boys and girls. Miss Connell has complete charge of the girls while Mr. Anderson assumes the responsibility of the boys. Although both Miss Connell and Mr. Anderson have had to express their authority quite firmly at times, the students realize that they do so for the betterment of the entire student body.

The Strong Vincent office is in charge of only two clerks, an amazing fact when one observes the tremendous task they have to complete. After Miss Weindorf left us in mid-semester to become Mrs. Rhoades, Miss Sullivan was joined by Miss Wingerter.

The office force keeps for reference countless records. In the files are hundreds of programs, records of lockers and locker keys, and innumerable other student data. At the end of the school year it is the duty of the office clerks to check the several thousand incoming books and to send the damaged ones to be rebound. Besides carrying on all school correspondence the office force is responsible for the distribution of supplies throughout the school. These tasks, and many others, are the duty of the office clerks. They are the unsung workers behind the ever-moving scenes at Strong Vincent.

Science - The Truth of Life

The junior high school student is introduced into the amazing realms of modern research by an inclusive course in general science which touches briefly upon each of the branches of the higher sciences. Biology is taken up by the majority of the senior high school students as a stepping stone to a more accurate knowledge of every day life. In the study of chemistry, a complex but practical world of adventure is disclosed by the fascinating means of the test tube and formula. The various whys and wherefores of natural phenomena are unerringly explained by exacting experiments in the physics lab. The science of physiography gives a comprehensive pictures of the enormity of the universe and the relation of our world to it. For those who are not preparing for college, a course combining general information with regular chemistry is offered.

Language - The Voice of the World

A goodly number of those who are taking a foreign language are not preparing for college, but are rather seeking to broaden their views of a complex world. Through the study of Latin, the master-key to modern languages, a student will acquire a more thorough mastery of any other language. In the French class, not only do the students learn to read from the grammars, but they also learn to carry on intelligent conversations in French. The culture of the great Germanic masters is brought into the classrooms by the study of German. Modern Italian provides an interesting and revealing comparison between civilizations, old and new, in an ancient land. In keeping with our strengthened relations with South America, Spanish has been successfully introduced within the past year.

ENGLISH: The English classes have been using the library more and more in their quest for the where and the how of finding knowledge. These are a few students from Miss Thomas' class. Standing: Milloy, R., Farver. Seated: Klein.

In the past few years, astounding advances have been made in the improvement of the English curriculum for the high schools. Supplanting the older method by which each student learned the same thing in the same way, these newer units have been arranged to fit the individual needs of all. By allowing the students to progress as far as they wish beyond the minimum requirements, the more adept students are enabled to advance at their own rate without having to wait for those who work less rapidly. Under this new system, each student can follow the branches of literature or composition in which he is most interested. Not only are regular English classes being offered, but also public speaking, journalism, and Business English may be taken by those who seek more intensive training in those fields.

North East West South

From every corner, from every conceivable source, the reporters of the bi-weekly newspaper enthusiastically gather stories and gossip. They carefully cover every possible lead. During the sixth period journalism class, not one minute is wasted as hurried reporters rush feverishly to complete their articles before the final deadline. In the past decade, the "STRONG VINCENT NEWS" has rapidly grown in size and in service to the school. Besides the memories of many pleasant hours, each member carries away first-hand information on the newspaper world and its workings which may influence his later life work.

Preparation for the Business of the World

In Strong Vincent, a complete course of commercial subjects is offered to those students who wish to specialize in that ever expanding field. The course in bookkeeping thoroughly acquaints the students with elementary accounting which will be extremely useful in their later business and private lives. A mastery of typing and shorthand is most essential to those who wish to obtain a position in the modern business world. The students who take these courses work with that goal: a responsible position, constantly before them. For further training, single semesters of Business English and Commercial Law are being taught.

Marion Van Natta—A.B. Mount Holyoke. General Math. Adviser—Junior High Girl Reserves.

Mathematics - Mainspring of Civilization

Because mathematics is playing an ever increasing part in the business of the modern world, varied courses in this field are being offered in Strong Vincent. Each junior high school student is required to take three years of general mathematics which briefly introduce him to algebra, geometry, and commercial arithmetic. In the plane geometry class, sophomores are taught the ancient science of measurement. The course in advanced algebra is open to those juniors who have successfully completed plane geometry. Trigonometry and solid geometry are offered to seniors as a final step in their high school mathematics.

History - Chart and Compass of National Endeavor

The social sciences seek to guide the active citizens of tomorrow in making our nation strong and great. History, a colorful pageant of the ages, presents an intimate picture of the achievements of mankind which have fashioned our present civilization. Civics, Economics and Problems of Democracy seek to prepare the student for an active part in our government through a better understanding of its problems. By studying geography, the junior high school pupil becomes thoroughly acquainted with this broad country and its position, geographically and commercially, with foreign lands.

Ellen Boynton—B.S. Edinboro State Teachers College. World History; Civics.

Alice Foust—A.B. Penn State. Civics; History. Adviser—Junior Historical Society.

J. D. Pratt—A.B. Allegheny. U. S. History. Coach—Debating Club.

Physical Fitness - Our First Line of Defense

To train the body as well as the mind is an essential step in preparing our future citizens. The boys have a full and varied athletic program which ably combines gym and water work. The girls' program, which is less strenuous though fully as extensive, also includes pool and gym periods. Hygiene classes are offered to those who cannot participate in the regular physical education program. In the Spring, school physicians make a thorough examination of every student, and a registered nurse is always ready to remedy minor accidents of busy school life. Healthy bodies are our first line of defense.

A. C. Sapper—University of Pittsburgh; California State Teachers College. Industrial Arts; Wood Shop.

The Most Useful of the Arts -

Delightful and tempting smells issue from the cooking room as student chefs bring forth their savory dishes. Perhaps the production of tangible results from their efforts is one of many reasons why the art of cookery has become so popular. During the past few years, more and more boys have ventured into these classes where the girls once reigned supreme.

Suitable classes are offered to those who wish to learn the basic principles of sewing and to those who wish more advanced work. In these classes, an increasingly large number of girls are learning to choose suitable materials, to make their own clothes, and to select the types of clothing which will best suit their needs and their budgets.

In the woodworking shop, boys and some girls, too, learn to handle the different tools safely and efficiently. By doing creative work with their hands, these students are learning a practical art which in time, may become a hobby or a full time occupation. Working hand in hand with the rest of the school, these classes repair and refinish tables, chairs, and other small articles which may become broken. In this constructive way, the knowledge of the class rooms is put into actual use.

In accordance with the newer trends of secondary education, Strong Vincent High School has provided a number of increasingly important departments whose purpose is to teach students to use their hands in a creative way.

A. E. Humphrey—B.S. Stout Institute. Drafting. Adviser—Tennis; Spokesman.

Cora Anne Pearce—B.S. Penn State; M.Litt. University of Pittsburgh. Art. Adviser—Spokesman; Brass Choir.

Jean E. Wilson—A.B. Penn State. Librarian. Adviser—Spokesman; A Cappella Choir; Student Council; 12-1 Class.

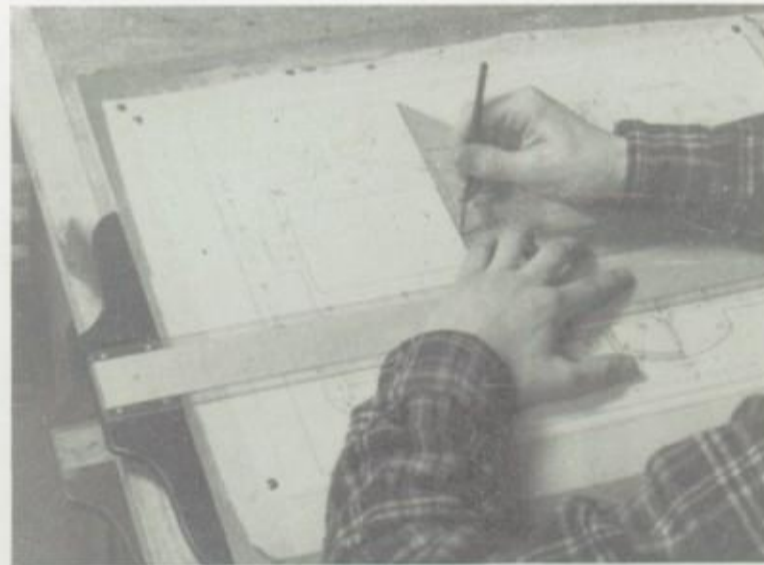

- Is the Art of Being Useful

Because drafting is a highly important subject in the well rounded education of any boy, this course is required in the curriculum of the junior high school. More advanced and more specialized work is offered as an elective subject to the senior high school students who need it in preparation for many of the branches of the industrial field.

The art classes of the junior high school not only serve as a background for more general appreciation of the great masters, but also tend to encourage the artistically minded individual to continue his art work throughout his high school years. In the Senior Art Department a variety of projects, which range from charcoal sketches to the gaily colored posters, is offered to both commercial and regular art classes. The art work in the Spokesman has been done by this department.

Strong Vincent High School has an exceptionally fine library in which every type of good reading material may be found. New books are constantly being added in a successful effort to keep abreast of the literary world. Here also the student may find recent copies of the most prominent magazines and newspapers for his reading enjoyment.

Any student who has not learned by actual experience to use his head and his hands together has not been fully prepared to take his part in the every day world. Planning and acting, thinking and doing, call for coordination of head and hand.

The Soul of a Nation is in its Songs

Sylvia Galinsky—B.M. American Conservatory of Music. Junior High Art. Junior High Music. Girls Chorus.

O. L. Grender—A.B. St. Olaf. A Cappella Choir; Mixed Choir.

The Strong Vincent A Cappella Choir is nationally known and acclaimed for the superior concert work which they have done. Every year that they have taken a trip their fame has grown, until they now receive many more requests for concerts than they are possibly able to accept. For the past four years, the entire choir has sung over a nation wide network from New York City but because of the crisis of international events, they will be unable to do so this year.

Two particularly outstanding features which set them off from other groups are the facts that they are entirely self supporting and self governing. All of the money for their trips, robes, and music is raised by the energies of the individual members and of the choir as a whole.

Several members were selected for the district chorus and one member received the great honor of being chosen for the all state choir. Last Christmas, as in previous years, our A Cappella presented a concert that was deeply moving. As a soloist, in their spring concert, they hope to present once more, Eugene Bossart, the distinguished pianist whose home was formerly in Erie.

The Girls Chorus, a rising member of Strong Vincent High School's musical family, is becoming an increasingly important group in their classroom and in their social events. During the past year, they have worked especially hard, gradually becoming serious contenders for the musical crown of our school.

Instead of taking their annual trip, the money which has been earned by the untiring efforts of its members was used to purchase new robes. To pay for these robes, each girl paid for her seven dollar budget with the money she earned by conducting popcorn sales and food sales. Being a group which believes in having fun while doing their necessary work, these girls have also held several roller skating parties to raise some of their money.

Since early September, the Girls Chorus has worked hard to blend their voices into a harmonious and pleasing whole. They have joined in two concerts with the A Cappella choir to show to all their melodious results which only hard work and diligent practice can produce. Not only have they earned money for their own treasury, but they have also been instrumental in helping the Brass Choir.

A new musical organization has entered Vincent since last fall, and it is proving to be a very important part of our large musical department. This mixed choir has been organized to give a larger number of senior high school students the chance to blend their voices together under expert supervision.

This choir has often been termed the Junior A Cappella for its main purpose is to train members for that larger group. Upon its members rests the success or failure of the A Cappella. They have sung in nearby schools and have given concerts where they have been lauded for their splendid work. They have joined with the other musical groups to purchase a new recording machine which will preserve their voices for future choirs.

GIRLS CHORUS—Row 1: Finton, Schneider, Leone, Phillips, Curtis, Rocco, DeGraw, LaFuria, Messenkopf, Edelman, Uhlman, Ferguson, Logan, Simon. Row 2: Norton, Hamilton, Gallagher, Fisher, Pifer, Paden, Torok, Whipple, Judd, Miller, Painter, Rubner, Foerster, Heidt, Addressi, Pell. Row 3: McGee, Zaepfel, Griffin, Juntunen, DeLancey, Babbitt, Shufflin, Larsen, Sautter, Shoptaugh, Seachrist, Dillon, Sampieri, Lundgren, Graham.

Music for Marching Feet

When the band, in their smart red and black uniforms, parades down the field before the football or track enthusiasts who crowd the stadium, each heart loyal to Vincent beats a little faster. "As the Colonels go marching along," the spirit of cooperation which has become a symbol of our school is brought to the attention of all. Behind this impressive array are many hours of hard and diligent practice. The tiring hours of drilling were lightened by the example set by a new band member, our snappy drum majorette. During the band's two day trip to Hamilton, Ontario, the honor and prestige of Strong Vincent High School was greatly increased by their splendid showing. Three of the band's members have won the highest possible honors for themselves and for their school by earning a first place in the all state musical finals. The band, an organization that is rapidly growing in size and importance, offers a splendid opportunity to any boy who plays an instrument.

John Ramsay Brown—University of Pittsburgh;
New England Conservatory. Band; Orchestra.

George J. Yochim—B.S. Edinboro State Teachers
College; Indiana State Teachers College. Brass Choir.

The members of the orchestra have formed a symphony in miniature whose varied programs rival those of many larger and more experienced groups. During the second period, the sixty-three members learn greater appreciation of fine music and at the same time learn to produce pleasing harmonies. The majority of those who are selected to play in the instrumental section of student sponsored auditorium programs are outstanding members of the orchestra. This group gives frequent full length assembly programs where the prolonged applause of an appreciative audience is ample reward for their untiring efforts. Eagerly awaited high lights in our musical season are the winter and spring concerts which are annually presented by the orchestra and band for the purpose of showing the hard earned accomplishments to parents and students.

The Brass Choir, an organization which has recently celebrated its first anniversary, has every reason to be proud of its overwhelming accomplishments. Unselfishly relinquishing their vacations, these girls met four times each week during the summer months to prepare themselves for the prospective football season. This was an astounding task, for the majority of the girls had never played any sort of an instrument and none of them had ever played in a large group. During the first week of school, the members of the Brass Choir practiced for many long hours until they could march well enough to play for the first game. When this group of forty seven marched into the stadium, the spectators were pleasantly surprised by their unparalleled playing and marching. This past winter they have played in many neighboring high schools and are now planning to take many longer trips. The fact that they have earned every penny of the money to pay for their uniforms is in itself astonishing. For those who wish to join this organization, a beginners class is being conducted.

The Few Who Help the Many

MAINTENANCE STAFF, MEN: Time out for the busy men who take care of our building; Seated: Mr. Benner, Mr. Foy, Mr. Mike Miller. Standing: Mr. Boehr, Mr. Fisher. MAINTENANCE STAFF, WOMEN: Mrs. "Annabel" Miller lines up her helpers for inspection: Mrs. Starks, Mrs. Hruska, Miss Mae Haas, Mrs. Irish, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Mary Miller. CAFETERIA STAFF: Ready and waiting for the hungry horde of the first lunch period; Mrs. Blythe, Mrs. Walzack, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Heisler, Mrs. Measel, (substituting for Mrs. Sipple) Miss May, Mrs. Orton, Mrs. Searles, Mrs. Kern.

Behind the scenes of daily school life stands a small band whose services to those who use this building are inestimable. The wheels of Vincent move smoothly due to the untiring efforts of the maintenance staff. Always willing to do whatever task is asked of them, they are a major part of the spirit of cooperation that is so prevalent in our school.

Mr. Foy, who is a stationary engineer, heads the entire maintenance staff. Under his competent guidance, a crew of four men work the year round to keep Strong Vincent in admirable working order. In addition to their outdoor tasks of keeping the lawns, the walks, and the athletic field in praiseworthy condition, they quickly and efficiently perform any and all work which falls to them. Whether it be changing a light bulb high above the auditorium, braving the blustery winds of winter to clear the walks of snow, or any of a thousand other essential duties, these men are ever ready to do their work well without a thought of praise.

Mrs. Miller, affectionately known as "Annabel" by every student and teacher in Strong Vincent, capably heads the janitresses. These women industriously fulfil the seemingly endless tasks of keeping so large a building clean and healthful for those who use it. Each and every day, the whole building is given a thorough cleansing and no stray corner is ever left untouched. In anticipation of the fall term, these ladies spend the long hot months of summer cleaning the building and making it almost as fresh as when it was new.

Eat, Drink, and Be Merry! For an hour each day, the doors of our cafeteria are opened widely in welcome to scores of hungry students. Again and again long lines of eager scholars miraculously disappear as their trays are generously filled with savoury dishes prepared by Mrs. Blythe and her well strained staff. Since early in the morning, those behind the scenes have been hard at work preparing food enough to satisfy a thousand robust appetites. During the seven lunch periods, a small band of students enthusiastically help with the general tasks. The wholehearted support of the student body is a reward for a task well done.

Even when attractive Betty Davis is hard at work, she adds a distinctly decorative touch to any pile of books . . . Bettie Livermore, Mary Catherine Emery, and Maxine Carlson seem to be in an especially cheerful mood as they enter the portals of school for another busy day . . . Shirley Armagost and Ralph Riehl, one of Vincent's favorite twosomes, don't look as if they were any too happy about the present state of affairs . . . Virginia Boyd registers astonishment plus. Plus what? Plus ire at the candid camera fiend who finally got her picture . . . Imitating a human kaleidoscope, Ed Horstkotte proves that position is everything in life . . . Perhaps some thoughtful person should tell Dick Wallace the sad, sad, story of what happened to Venus deMilo when she bit her finger nails.

... The Seniors

Jean Swaney and Priscilla Arrowsmith seem intensely interested in the Physics discussion . . . What manner of serious business brings Eleanor Dundon to the library this time? . . . Is James Phillips worrying about events of the past, present or future? . . . Kay Sprickman and Jenny Marabito take time off from their cheer-leading to give a decorative touch to our school flag pole . . . It begins to look as if Eugene Mercier believes in counting his calories only between meals . . . Bill Kennedy is up a tree again. They say the sloth hibernates upside down, too . . . If laughter is contagious, then Rosemary Held has certainly come down with a bad case of it . . . Quote Jon deWitt, "Today I am a man by a close shave!" . . . Betty Laird gives her whole hearted attention to some pressing matter of the moment . . . Grayce Letizia scans the headlines to keep abreast of the current news . . . Patsy DeMatteo takes an hour or two off from his drafting to day dream . . . In Public Speaking class, Dorothy Offner gives an oration in first class manner . . . Walter Wollman is just out for a stroll in the spring breezes.

Second in Command

The effervescence of the oncoming graduates could not be bottled until these students held top position in the school. In the second-last semester of high school life, the outstanding members of the class came into the limelight by being chosen to guide the top-ranking organizations of Vincent. William Silva was elected, by the student body in the first official secret ballot held at Vincent, to serve a term as president of Student Council. Also in that election, Sally Lund became first vice president of the same group. Donald Albertson was Editor-in-Chief and James Douglas was Business Manager of the 1941 Spokesman. William Hetico is president of this enthusiastic 12-1 class. Other officers include: vice president Gilda Adessi; secretary Ruth Johnson; and treasurer Robert Mosher. As their first social venture, the officers and the social committee, with the help of all classmates, sponsored a very successful St. Patrick's Day Dance.

Scholarship, character, leadership, and service is not lacking in this group. The following members were honored in 11-2 by being inducted into the National Honor Society: Sally Lund, Isabelle Reed, Mary Lou Burckart, Donald Albertson, James Douglas, Ernest Cray, William Silva, and Robert Mosher. Besides having regular homeroom representatives in Student Council, the 12-1 class may voice its opinion through its members of Council-at-large: Martha Dean, Betty Ann Seelar, Mary Ann Landi, Don McNeill, Emidio Gigliotti, and Bill Waller. Advisers of this "ready, willing, able" class are Miss Wilson and Mr. Blake. From the dim horizon of the future we see emerging one of the most successful classes Vincent has had.

Non-Commissioned

Advancement bring with it many responsibilities; promotion into 11-2 brings a semester of patient waiting for the day when the class will be called seniors. But until that day when they take their places as acknowledged leaders, they begin to earn that leadership by running activities on a small scale. For they realize that these small scale activities provide the experience which is so necessary before they assume responsibility for the major functions.

"Get together to get acquainted" was the theme of the first social function held in March and sponsored by the newly organized class under the management of the officers, the social committee and the guidance of the advisers: Miss Turner, Miss Galbo, and Mr. Cochrane. The elected officers are: president, Daniel Schitea; vice president, Mary Steinmetz; secretary, Ruth Collins; treasurer, Robert Hetico. This semester each homeroom had a representative on the social committee which was as follows: Natalie Baer, Nancy Norton, Anne Devine, Ann Gillilan, Donald Anderson, William Kay, George Solony, Jean Shufflin, Paul Waterman, and Sally Sutton. The school will see much of this class as it sponsors dances, get-togethers, and other activities in the future.

With an eye toward the future, the truest school spirit prevails in the class which is starting its junior year in high school. The members of the 11-1 class support all the upperclass activities for the purpose of getting ideas for furthering and bettering their class when it is organized.

All varsity sports are open to the boys who desire to have a place on a first team or who would be on the sidelines ready at all times to go into the game and help the school win. The athletically inclined girls are busily engaged in a varied program of intramural sports in an effort to earn a school letter or become a member of the Girls Letter Club. All members of the class are eligible to be in the musical comedy, the College Club, and the majority of other clubs and organizations that are available to students at Vincent. This year a member of this class held one of the leading parts in "Take It Easy."

On entering Vincent in February, the 10-1 students were introduced to a new school, with a large curriculum, a variety of intramural and varsity sports, a group of clubs and other organizations, and a school spirit second to none. With the help of teachers and upper classmates, these students began the first semester of their new life in senior high school. They found any strangeness quickly disappearing, for the friendly atmosphere of which our school is justly proud soon made them feel at home. New faces quickly became friendly faces, and the dignified upper classmen, on closer inspection, proved quite human and approachable. By the close of the semester they recognized, with pride, their share in their alma mater.

Rookies

The program offered to students in junior high is one of which Vincent can be very proud. Besides being active members in sports and clubs of their own, the junior citizens of Vincent carry on their own auditoriums, are represented in Student Council, and are ardent supporters of all senior high activities, cheering lustily the activities of the older students.

To be an expert in sports as well as a good student is a feat not every boy can accomplish. The purpose of the National Athletic Honor Society is to foster in boys a desire for scholarship and sportsmanship. Boys who work diligently to reach this goal are fully rewarded with membership in this society, the highest honor which can be conferred on any Vincent athlete. To prove that he is worthy of this recognition, he must have an average in his studies equal to or higher than the general school average for three consecutive semesters, and he must have obtained a school letter from at least one athletic organization. These are rigid requirements and the boy who fulfills them to the best of his ability is a true scholar and athlete.

Cheering for Victory

Fight, Team, Fight! The battle cry of Vincent! A cheerleader has to really work to raise school spirit to its highest pitch in order to spur the team on to victory. It requires sacrifice, and untiring labor but the response it gets from the student body is a satisfying reward for their work. By their vim, vigor, and vitality, they keep our animation at its peak in victory or defeat. Even when things look darkest they dig up a spark of life and kindle that spark until our voices sing out in new hope and encouragement. We wish to extend our thanks to Miss Weinheimer and Mr. Blake, who have done such an excellent job in training our cheerleaders to serve their school so splendidly.

CHEERLEADERS: The pep promoters who spur the team to victory: Braine, Collins, DiLeva, Munn, Yannitello, Sprickman, Marabito, Phillips, Matters, O'Day, Dahlstrand, Brown.

Rewarding Fair Play

GIRLS LETTER CLUB: Girls also can be outstanding in sports. Their reward is membership in the Girls Letter Club. Row 1: Marinelli, Hoyer, Pizzuto, Lombordozzi, Rocco, Miss Weinheimer, adviser. Row 2: Cocco, Searles, Vicos, DiMarie, Marabito.

Being barred from Interscholastic Sports does not stop Vincent's sportswomen from gaining distinction in athletics. Faithful members of a champion team in one of many Intramural Sports offered to girls at Vincent are eligible for membership and must undergo a prescribed initiation. Elsie Pizzuto, president, was assisted in her work by two secretaries, Jean Pifer and Mary Zulian. The club, under the direction of Miss Weinheimer, holds regular meetings on alternate Tuesdays; also hikes, picnics, parties, and an annual banquet at which the club's alumnae are present. This group should serve as an inspiration to girls who have previously been too shy to enter into these extracurricular activities.

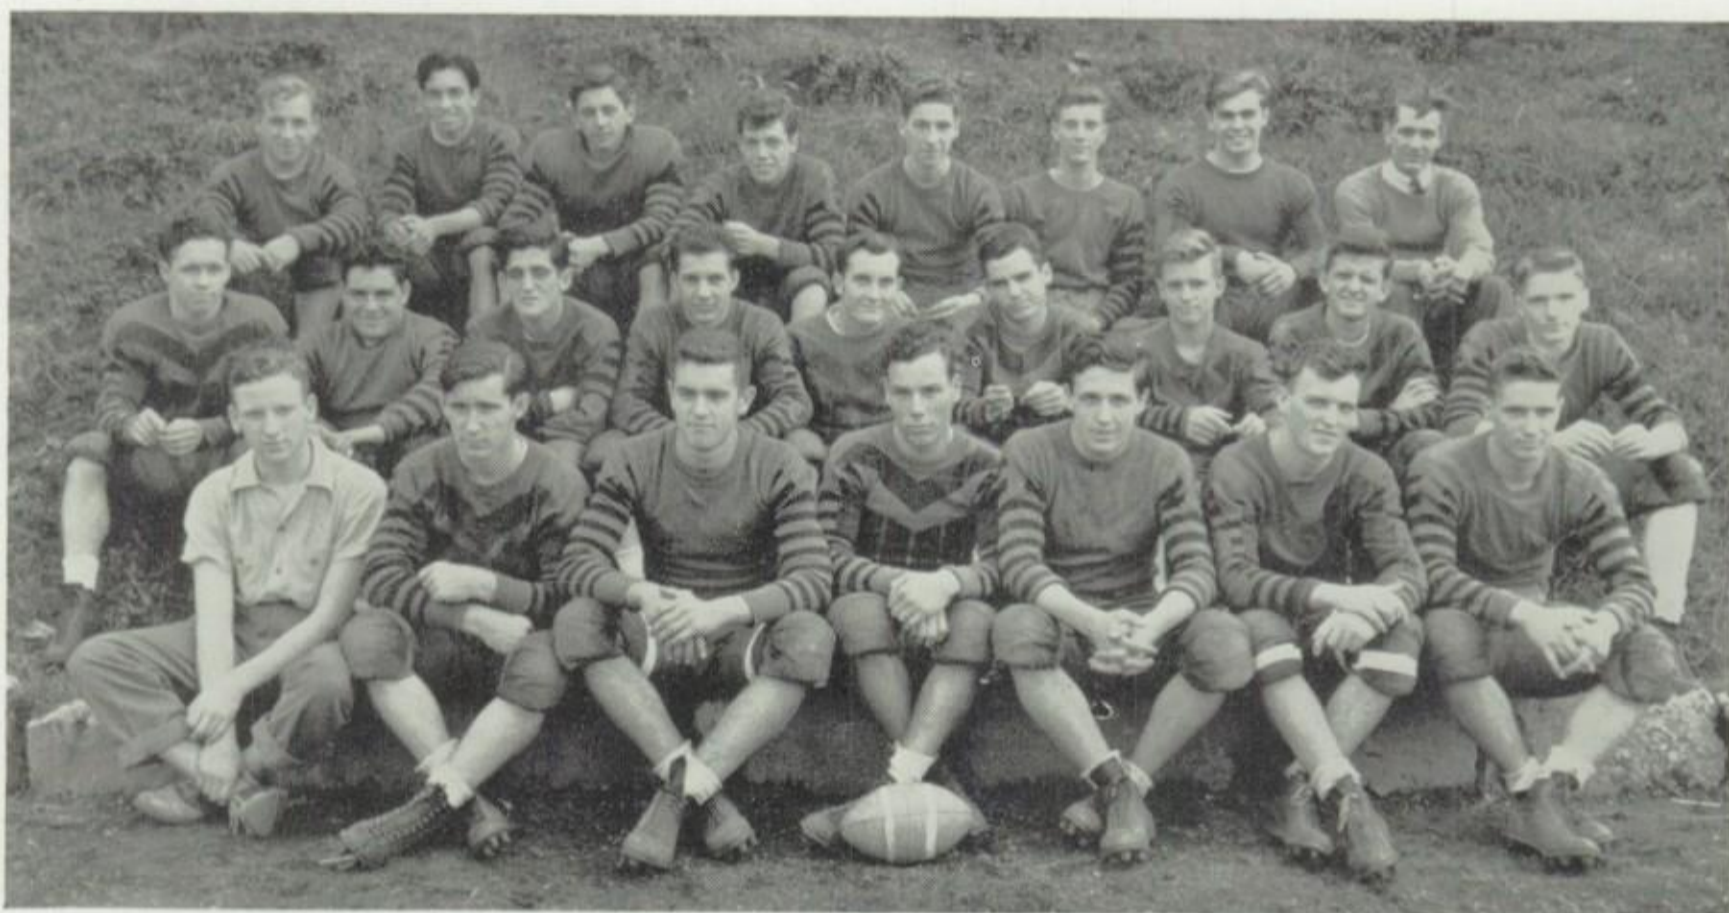

Learning Early

Junior High athletes are recognized for loyal service on winning teams in intramural sports by being voted into the Junior Aces, an honorary club, and later performing the initiation required for completing membership requirements. Entrance into tenth grade automatically graduates girls from this organization. Jean Graham, president, conducts the regular business meetings in the girls gym every other Wednesday and Lois Pifer records the minutes. Under the direction of Miss Weinheimer, the club carries out its purpose by participating in many social functions throughout the year.

When this year's football season began, Coach Kramer had only six lettermen from last year's championship team. But by September 7, "Sam" assisted by Kenneth "Red" Cochrane had built a team, which, light and inexperienced in the backfield, scoring three times in the first quarter and relying on their famous "razzle-dazzle", trounced a bewildered Warren team. The next week the Colonels were ploughed under by a highly touted Tech High team, losing this first City Series game. The boys recovered quickly, slinging the leather all over the field to gain a victory over Silver Creek, one of the biggest teams on the schedule. The Drakemen from Academy took away our second City Series game by a lopsided 38-12. We lost the next game by a touchdown to Sharon.

Undaunted by these defeats, the fighting Colonels used a rearranged lineup to defeat Dunkirk. For our game with Meadville, the Colonels abandoned their passing attack and tricky formations and steamrollered their way over the Bulldogs.

The last City Series contest had the Colonels on the short end of a 25-8 score. Aided by superior punting, Vincent scored once, while the East High Warriors crossed the pay stripe four times. The last battle was with Watertown. For three quarters, Vincent pounded at the opponent's goal line. The ground attack failing, the boys took to the air completing a touchdown, but it was called back for offside; and the game ended in a scoreless stalemate.

FOOTBALL COACHES: H. I. (Sam) Kramer, K. (Red) Cochrane, B. C. (Gus) Gustavson. FOOTBALL MANAGERS: The stage-crew of football: Mr. McCarthy, Equipment Manager, DeArment, Varsity Manager, Hooper, Jay Vee Manager, Kay, Assistant Manager, Stackhouse, Assistant Manager, Schitea, Assistant Manager, Mr. Wallach, Faculty Manager.

The season was a great contrast to the previous one in which the team we sent out was undefeated in City Series competition, and received the symbolic Princeton Cup. We were unable to regain the cup and at the end of one short year we must hand it to another school, still needing two victories to make it ours.

The results of the season were not favorable, but the boys carried with them the traditional Strong Vincent spirit, earned every game they won, and never stopped fighting. At the annual football banquet, William Fabian, who completed his second year on the Varsity team, was chosen captain for the coming season, succeeding John Roach.

While the Varsity was chalking up a record of 4 defeats, 4 victories, and 1 tie, Bert Gustavson's proteges were passing their way to Vincent's second consecutive Jay Vee championship by winning 5 games, losing 1 and tying 1. All through the season, these "little Colonels" displayed the spirit and fighting heart of their big brother team. As most of these boys will be on the regular squad next season, their record helped raise our fond hopes for annexing next year's city title.

Mr. Wallach was an able manager; and as for the past five years, the equipment was handled by Mr. McCarthy, who did a fine job.

New football candidates, when they come out in the fall, find that football isn't all glory. As we can see, there is a great deal of work to be accomplished. They develop the necessary muscles by pushing the sled around the field under Coach Kramer's direction . . . Assistant Manager Bill Kay watches without envy as the boys practice tackling the dummy . . . Don Fabian, the versatile young newcomer gets ready to pass . . . John Roesch is successfully blocked in his onrush . . . Jeffery, Roesch, J., Mead, Daddario, Vincent, and Rose set the ball for a quick start in practice scrimmage . . . Coach Cochrane points out vital information in skull practice while Coach Kramer gives the moral support . . . Bill Fabian, Don's big brother is about to boot that ball which Bob Gensheimer holds in position for a place kick.

Climaxing one of the most successful athletic seasons in Vincent's history, the Akron flash "Red" Cochrane brought home the bacon to Strong Vincent in the form of both the City and District Ten track and field titles. Blessed with veteran material, "Red" put on the field a well rounded track team captained by Charles "Chuck" Miller.

First on the schedule was the Pitt Indoor meet, which our boys took in their stride, winning handily. The only other relay that the Colonels participated in was the Salem Relays, where for the first time we sent a full team, and were well rewarded with second place. Vincent's only first was in the two mile relay, which our boys took in the fast time of 8:30.

In dual competition the Colonels won seven and lost only one, and that to a fighting Altoona team which had not lost a dual meet in ten years! All the others: Dunkirk, Silver Creek, Jamestown, Lawrence Park, and the three local rivals fell before the furious onslaught of the winged Colonels. On the local scene, the Colonels stamped themselves as the leading contender for both the City and District Ten track and field titles as they rolled over the three local schools in quick succession. The meet with Academy was outstanding in the fact that it was the first dual meet between these schools since 1935. Although the score does not indicate it, the meet with East was a close battle. Vincent had to storm through the field events under forced draft to put this meet in the victory column.

In one of the closest and most hotly contested battles of the Vincent track season, the fighting Colonels won the District Ten track and field title for the second successive year, becoming the only school beside Academy to win the District Ten track title two times, and two times in a row. The District Ten champions from Vincent were: Pizzo in the low hurdles, Orlando in a magnificent performance in both the javelin and shot put events and our crack relay team which set a new record of 1:34.4 in the 880 yard relay.

Three of our boys traveled down to State College to compete in the State P. I. A. A. track and field championship. "Punk" Lundmark was the only winner from Vincent, when he broke the record of a former Vincentite, DiSantis, with a leap of 12'3" in the pole vault. The final meet of the season, the City Meet, saw the Colonels in top form as they made a grand slam in track as far as District Ten is concerned.

Putting a whirlwind finish to a great athletic career at Vincent, Bob Orlando not once, not twice, but three times broke the existing school records in the javelin and shot put. Sammy Pizzo also put his name in the record book beside the low hurdle mark.

CROSS COUNTRY

This year's cross country team was handicapped by the lack of veteran material. This was not the only drawback. Because cross country comes at the same time of year as football, it has no active coach. But this did not stop our boys from trying to mold themselves into a first class outfit. Every night after school the team put in long hours in hard practice. Being coachless did not hinder the team from participating in meets. By themselves and furnishing their own transportation the team ran in four meets this season. This year's team certainly deserves the name "THE FIGHTING COLONELS!"

Taking all facts into consideration, our water polo team did exceptionally well this season. With only three letter men back to form the nucleus for the squad, Vincent had practically a green team. Also some of the meets lost were heartbreakers, being lost by only a one goal margin. Because of these things, Vincent had to be satisfied with third place as East romped home in first place with no losses to their credit.

This year's swimming picture was marred by the untimely death of a former Vincent swimming star, Edward Shaw. To memorialize "Ed" in the hearts of swimming fans, a trophy was given in his name to symbolize swimming supremacy in the city of Erie. This year East won this coveted trophy; next year we hope to bring it to Vincent.

First to furnish opposition for the Vincent Mermen was the weak, green team of Academy which Vincent roared over in grand style. Next, Vincent showed Butler how to swim as they rolled them under by a substantial margin. Returning to local competition, Vincent stamped themselves as one of the best bets to cop the Edward Shaw Memorial Trophy as they defeated East, Tech, and Academy in quick succession. In their first foreign meet, Vincent defeated the strong East Lane Tech team of Cleveland in good style. Connellsville defeated Vincent in its only other foreign entanglement. East threw a monkey wrench into Vincent's championship plans by defeating the pupils of Weibel by one point. Next week Tech did the same trick, putting East on the City championship throne. Undaunted by this, Vincent reversed the procedure by taking the District Ten swimming title for the fifth straight season with a one point victory over the second place team, Tech!

One school record was broken when Captain Ralph Riehl swam the 220 in 2:26. The other standout of this year's team was Jack Cooke. He is the district, regional, and state champion in the 100 yard freestyle.

City Series

Starting the season with four of last year's lettermen, Coach Kramer worked hard to try to build a team which could win our first city title since 1936. The Colonels lost all but two of their independent games, and because of defeats suffered on the road were given a poor chance in the City Series race; however, at the midway mark when all the schools were deadlocked for first place, by reason of past prestige Vincent was given an even chance of coming out ahead. The Colonels won only one of the remaining City Series games and at the end of the season rested on the bottom rung in a tie with Academy.

The program had its bright side too. The Colonels came away with second place honors in team scoring, and Captain Lou DiBacco bagged 125 points in nine games, four points below the all-time record, for first place in the individual scoring contest. The Jay Vees managed a 22-21 victory over East to settle a tie for the city championship. This was Coach Cochrane's second consecutive title-winning team.

That all around sportsman, Bert Gustavson, was faculty manager of the basketball teams. "Chick" Rufini, flashy backcourtsman, was given the highly deserved honor of being elected captain for the coming season.

Netters and Golfers defeated in City Race

Our racqueteers started the season last spring without any previous open-air practice. Considering this, and the fact that the entire team, with the exception of Captain Jim Douglas, was green in scholastic competition, the season ran an even course.

After a defeat by Meadville, the team came back and trounced Cathedral Prep and Erie Tech. In close matches on consecutive nights the Strong Vincent netters bowed to Academy and East.

The able coaching of Mr. Humphrey proved a boom to Douglas who did not lose a single match during the season, and will return next year. Charles Barbour, William Levin, and Robert Geddis, all seniors, showed ability both in the singles and doubles.

Golf is one of the least publicized sports in Strong Vincent. Every year a small contingent of aspirants have a series of play-offs to decide on a team. The first five players are then sent as our team in all tournaments. Our home course is Lake Shore, on which we play each team once. We also have return matches with the other schools on their own courses. Academy, Edinboro, East, Lawrence Park, Prep, Tech, and Vincent make up the District Ten League.

Mr. Schenck coached Captain Frank Marsters; Richard Sly, who took fourth place in District Ten competition; Patrick DeMatteo; Dick Haft; and Robert Mosher in a season fairly divided between wins and losses. DeMatteo, Haft, and Mosher will return again next season.

Competition within Our Walls

The intramural program at Strong Vincent has been designed to provide a sport of interest to every boy and girl. Our varsity and junior varsity program can accommodate only a limited number of boys, but the intramural program provides a much wider scope. The girls entire athletic program has been turned over to intramurals, thus eliminating all interscholastic competition from girls sports. Intramural sports are stressed because they are played for the enjoyment of the game rather than for the sake of winning. At Vincent we have equipment for an extensive intramural program; we have a large, well-lighted gym for the use of the girls as well as one for the boys. In addition to this we have a pool for the joint use of both boys and girls, tennis courts, an athletic field, and the use of an archery range near the school. In our gyms we have equipment for basketball, volleyball, mushball, shuffleboard, ring tennis, and ping-pong.

Last spring, twenty-eight hopefuls signed up for the boy's tennis tournament. After two weeks of play, two of them, Bob Milloy and Jim Douglas, remained as competitors in the finals. An excellent match was the result with Jim Douglas as victor. The girls intramural tennis matches also took place last spring. For three weeks those girls who wished to participate, practiced strokes and services against the walls of the gym after school. When the girls were in form, the tournament was held with thirty-eight girls playing in the senior events and fourteen in the junior. After eliminating the others, Marianne Wert and Priscilla Arrowsmith took part in the thrilling senior high finals in which Marianne Wert triumphed. Janet Steinmetz won the junior high championship match with Phyllis Eaton as runner-up.

Girls mushball is also played in the spring. All the girls play in the gym classes until they learn fundamentals and rules, and then the mushball play-offs are held after school for those who sign up for it. If the weather is nice the games are held outdoors on the athletic field and the girls are benefited by both the exercise and the fresh air.

Shuffleboard is also offered at this time for those whose interests are in the less strenuous sports. Shuffleboard is the only intramural sport in which a girl may choose her partner or team from any grade in the school. In all the other sports the teams are graded and the girls must compete with others of their own age.

Basketball is usually the first game played in the fall. Both the boys and the girls have intramural basketball but each play under different regulations. This year a slightly different method was used in grouping the teams for boys basketball. In previous years the boys combined to form homeroom teams which played each other after school. This year the teams were selected from the study-hall periods and they played each other each Wednesday during the study period. Six teams were organized from each study hall and they competed against each other to determine the study hall champs. These in turn played to determine the school champions in basketball. The girls basketball however was still played in the gym classes, to teach everyone the game and the basketball league games were played after school. Fourteen teams participated in the senior high league and the twelve-two's came out on top. The ninth graders won the junior high championship.

The girls play volleyball in their gym classes in the fall. Eleven senior high teams and six junior high teams took part in the after school league. In the senior tournaments the twelve-two's were victors and in the junior tournaments the eight-one's triumphed.

The first semester of girls swimming is purely recreational. The girls play games and have a good time. In previous years part of this time was devoted to teaching the swimmers water tricks so that they might participate in the water show at the carnival. Although we did not have a carnival this year, the girls were taught how to waltz in water, how to do the porpoise, the back dolphin, and other water stunts, for their own fun and enjoyment. The second semester is given over to the American Red Cross Life Saving Course in which the girls and boys together are taught the rudiments of life-saving and water safety. The course involves seventeen hours of water work, a written test at the end of the semester, and a water test given by three Red Cross Examiners from the Red Cross Office.

Lots of work and lots of time are essentials for a successful Ring Tennis Team. Estill, Eaton, Glazier and Steinmetz come out on top for the Jr. High. First and Larsen give a demonstration of the ever popular ping pong. Winners of Sr. High Ring Tennis, Pizzuto, Vicos, and Cocco, are eligible for the Girl's Letter Club. Miss Weinheimer shows Smith, Jennings, Dahlstrand and First the correct way to hit the bull's-eye.

Archery, an excellent sport for developing good posture, is one of the fall activities on the girls calendar. Only girls in the eleventh and twelfth grades may participate in the tournament which takes place on the archery range near the Erie Day School.

At Vincent, ring tennis seems to be the most popular sport, because more girls participated in the after school ring tennis league than in any other. Perhaps its popularity is due to the fact that it is a fast and exciting game, since it is played according to volleyball rules but without volleyball restrictions.

This year a new game was added to Vincent's list of intramurals. Due to a great demand among the girls, ping pong tables were set up in the gym and the girls are permitted to play there, informally, any time they have a free period. Of course, they must furnish their own balls and bats. This game is growing increasingly popular.

When the boys volleyball season opened it was decided to run the league games in the same manner as the basketball games had been run. Instead of selecting teams from the home-rooms they were selected from the study hall periods. Forty teams were selected and have played each other to determine the school's volleyball champs.

Controllers

"Who will manage this undertaking . . . ?" "What's to be done about this idea . . . ?" And so it goes. Every hour of every day brings a new problem to be decided upon. That's why a Student Council was born. This marks the eleventh year that Strong Vincent, under competent jurisdiction, has offered a well organized and highly proficient governmental body to direct student affairs. Each Monday afternoon, homeroom representatives, their officers and faculty advisers meet to discuss the week's business and to confirm or condemn it as the vote decrees.

Two important steps were taken by Council this year: the adoption of the much debated point system, and a decision to have a musical comedy in place of the customary carnival. In addition, the ordinary duties of Council went on: appointing committees, selecting advisers, allocating funds to various activities, distributing Christmas baskets.

Miss Wilson, Miss Galbo, Miss Barber, Mr. Armagost, and Mr. Pratt aided as faculty advisers. The first semester officers were: Dave Lewis, President; Jean Shufflin, Jennie Marabito, and Eugene Mercier, Vice Presidents; Jeanne Holland, Secretary; Jack Schaffner, Treasurer. Officers for the second semester: Bill Silva, President; Eleanor Dundon, Sally Lund, Dan Schitea, Vice Presidents; Jane Keck, Secretary; and Jack Schaffner, Treasurer.

Recording School Life

Recognized as one of Strong Vincent's most important activities is the publishing of the "Spokesman." The yearbook is almost entirely a student product, only a small part of the photography being done by a professional photographer. The staff is selected by the faculty advisers on the basis of ability and interest. Our very capable adviser, Mr. Humphrey, aided by the Editor-in-Chief, Donald Albertson, supervised the work of all the departments and committees and advised individual board members in their efforts.

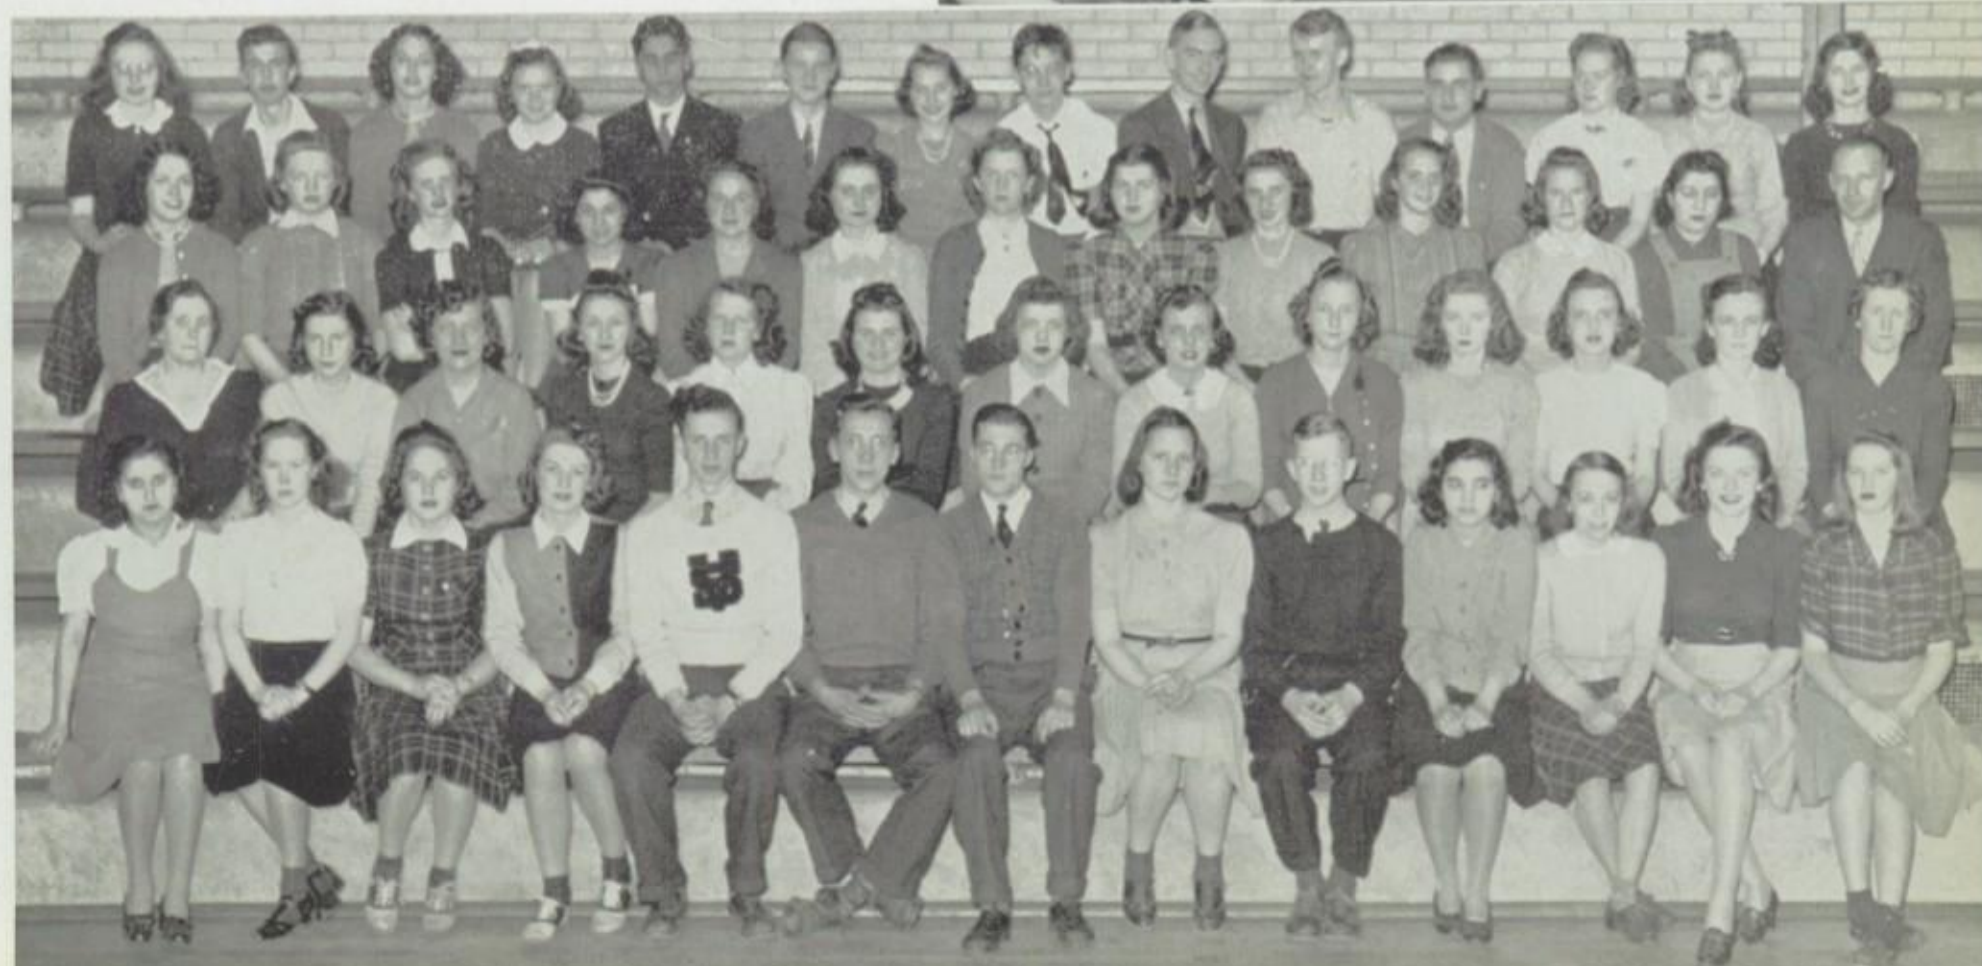

Under the direction of Miss Wilson, the Literary Department, with Rosemary Held as Literary Editor, wrote all the articles, headlines, identification. James Douglas, Business Manager, under the supervision of Miss Esler, directed the sale of the books and the collection of the payments—the life blood of the organization. Arlene Way, as Photography Editor, and Bill Kennedy, Chief Photographer, with the assistance of Mr. Humphrey, managed the scheduling and taking of pictures. The Art Department, working with Miss Pearce and the Art Editor, Richard Hoh, prepared the illustrations and assisted in the mounting.

Several members of the Spokesman Board attended the annual N.S.P.A. Convention, at which they mingled with students and advisers of yearbooks from cities throughout the nation, securing fresh viewpoints which have been gathered together in this book—we hope you like it!

An Eye to the Future

One of Vincent's most helpful and educational activities is its Pre-College Club. Only seniors and juniors having an average of eighty percent or better are admitted to this organization. The purposes of the club are: to encourage the members to pursue a higher education; and to prepare themselves for a better participation in college life; to arouse and maintain interest in college training among students who might not otherwise go to college.

The general code of the organization is: "That we will strive to conquer self, overcome obstacles, fight to the end, lead in service, encourage learning, give the best in us, and to ever make life more worthwhile and beautiful."

Meetings are held at regular intervals several times a month—business and social meetings being alternated. This year the club has had several speakers; among them, Mr. C. W. McNary and Mr. J. Lloyd Mahoney. As a part of its social program, there have been two get-together picnics on the Peninsula.

This year's officers are: President, Robert Milloy; Vice President, Edward Horstkotte; Secretary, Kay Sprickman; and Treasurer, Mary Shannon. Miss Turner and Mr. Dean are the advisers.

Leaders In Class and Out

Every year schools are increasing the emphasis placed on the development of those personal qualities which will make for success after graduation. Realizing the importance of all-around achievements, Vincent awards membership in the National Honor Society to those students, chosen by a Faculty Senate, who are considered to possess the requisites of character, scholarship, leadership and service.

Membership is not only restricted to students outstanding in these qualities, but is further limited to not more than five per cent of the 11-2 class, ten percent of the 12-1 class, and fifteen per cent of the 12-2 class. The candidates, chosen by an impartial Faculty Senate, receive the greatest honor that can be received by any Vincentite. Other Erie high schools now have similar organizations, but Vincent's had the distinction of being the first locally established chapter of this national organization.

Seeking Friendship in Service

With the purpose, "To create, maintain, and extend throughout my school and community, high standards of Christian character," as their guide, the members of the Hi-Y exert a definite moral influence on our school. The club was organized to maintain "clean sports, clean speech, clean habits, and clean scholarship." The social program of the Hi-Y is extensive. Besides the regular business meetings, the boys have had bi-weekly meetings with the Academy and East clubs, and joint meetings with the Girl Reserves.

Twice yearly the list of candidates for admission is drawn up. Those accepted are informally initiated, and later at a solemn ceremony, pledge themselves to uphold the principles of the Hi-Y. This year's officers of the club are: President, Neil Bliley; Vice President, William Hogenmiller; Secretary, William Rusch; Treasurer, Hugh Marshall. The advisers are Mr. Weibel and Mr. Darone.

Preparing for Friendly Living

The Strong Vincent Senior Girl Reserves have been more active this year in the Y. W. C. A. than ever before. They participated in the annual Christmas celebration, "The Hanging of the Greens," helped in the membership drive, held "splash" parties, and tureen suppers, bowled, and made full use of all the Y facilities. The G. R.'s knitted for 'Bundles for Britain,' had a demonstration of spring fashions, honored their mothers at a mother and daughter tea and book review, discussed problems in etiquette, and did all the other things which are of interest to the high school girl.

The Senior Inter-Club Council, composed of the club's officers: Bette Whitney, president; Mary Shannon, first vice president; Marjorie Whipple, second vice president; Ruth Johnson, secretary; Bette Seelar, treasurer; and the various committee chairmen, along with other Girl Reserve and Hi-Y officers throughout the city, planned and carried out a series of four very successful joint meetings. Group singing, discussion groups, and dancing constituted the programs.

These joint meetings, held in co-operation with the other senior high school clubs and their Hi-Y brothers, have resulted in spirited discussions and friendly relations among the different school groups.

Erie Girl Reserves also were hostesses to the 1941 Midwinter Regional Girl Reserve Conference of New York and Pennsylvania in February. The theme of the conference was "Living Our Democracy," and each one of the hundred delegates is certain to have taken something worthwhile back to her club.

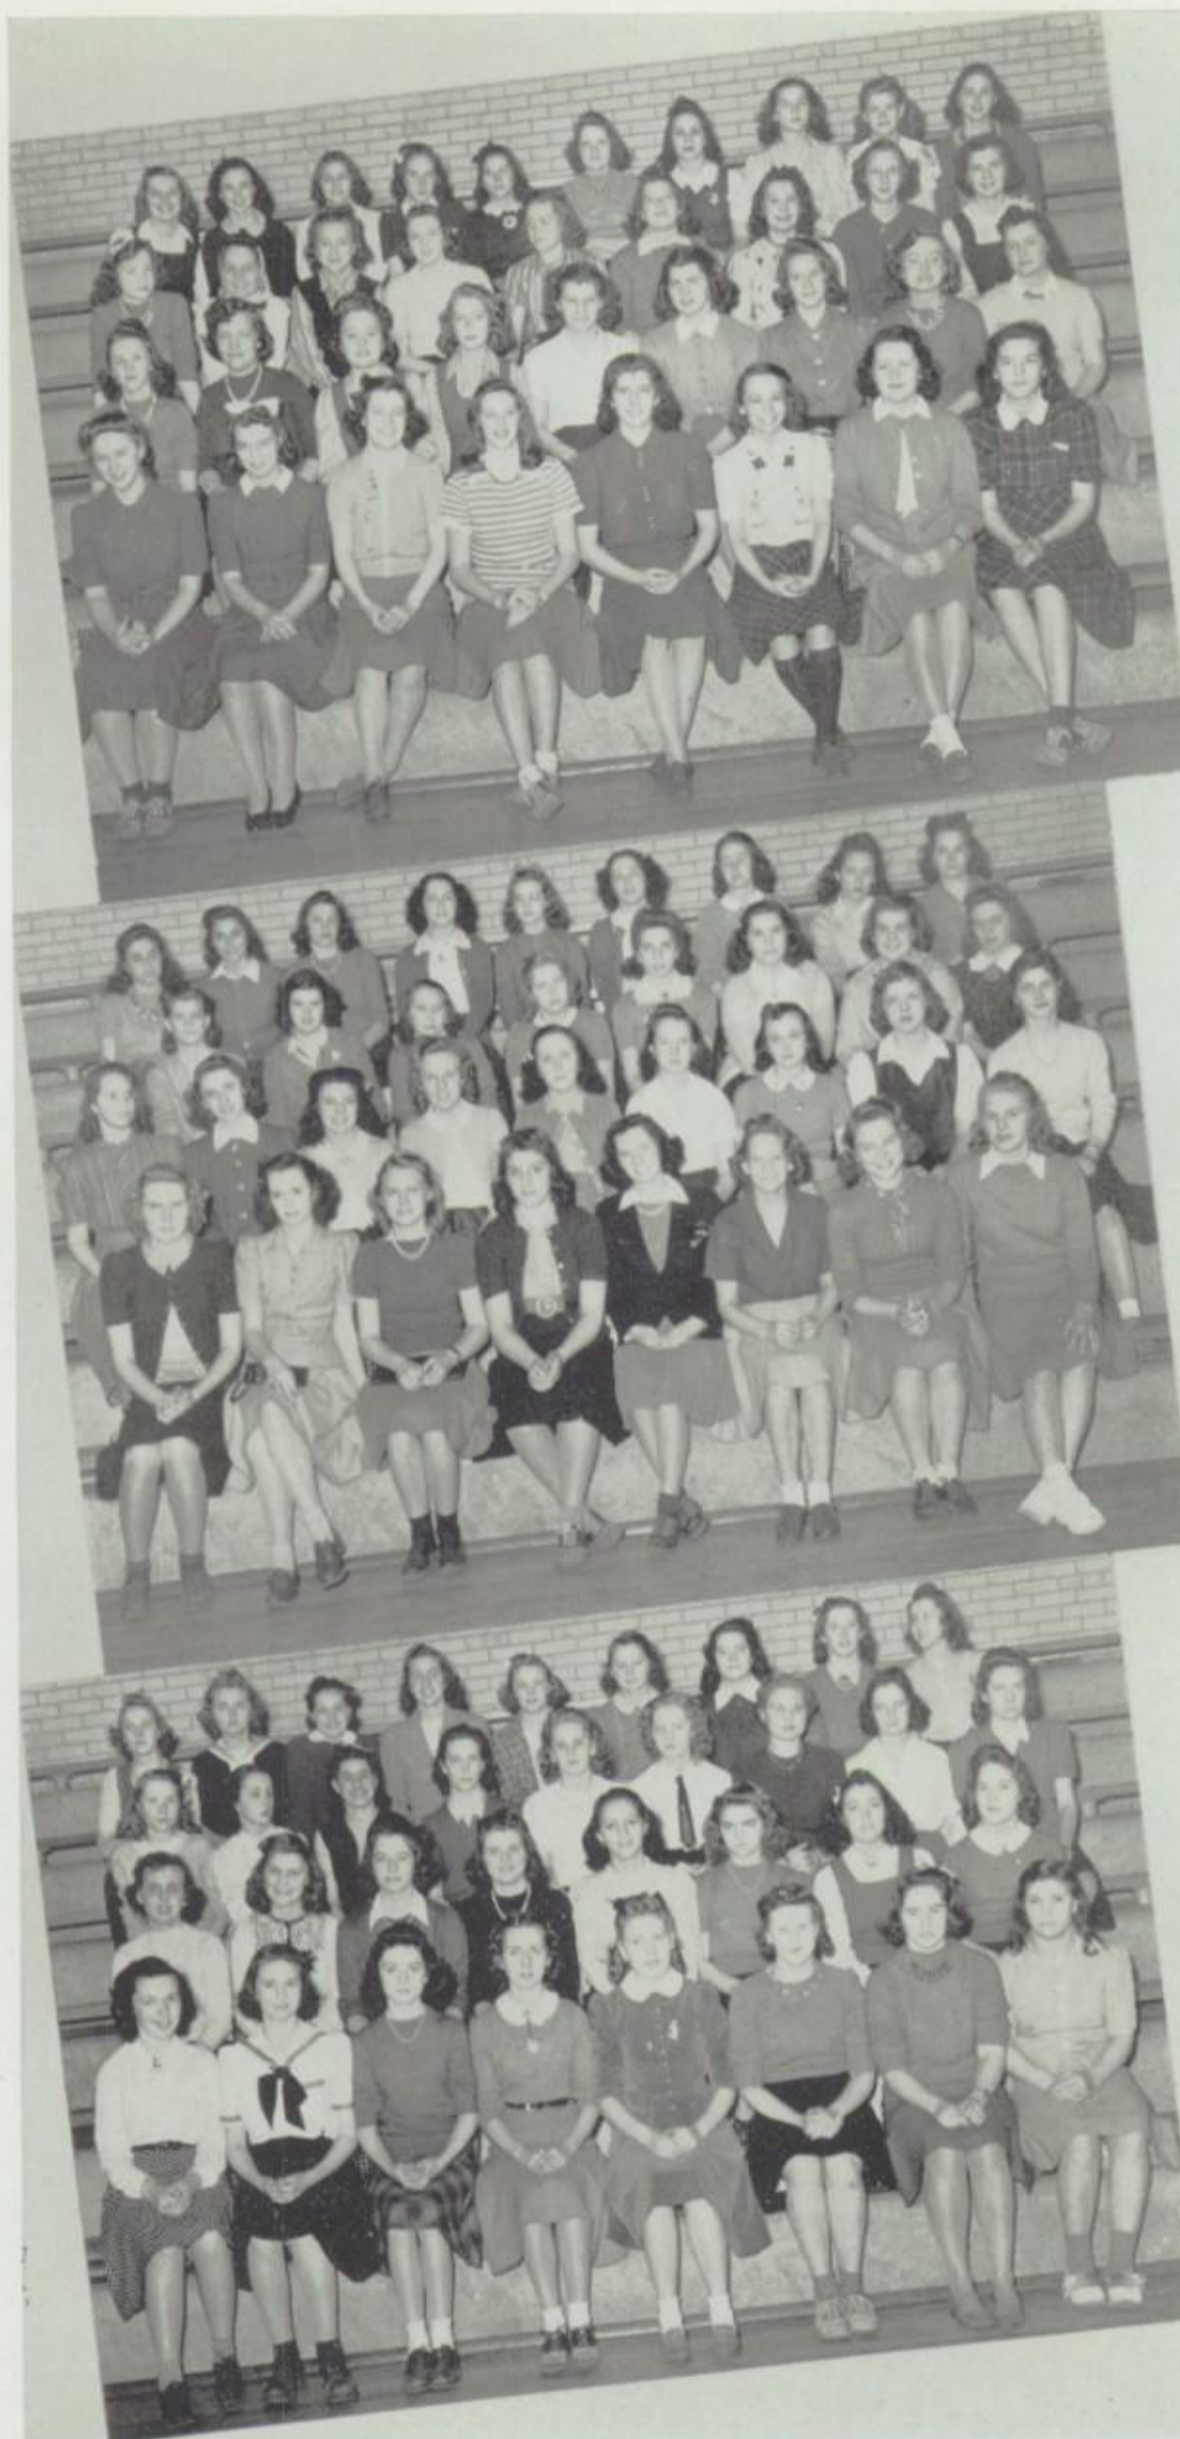

JUNIOR GIRL RESERVES

The purpose of the Junior Girl Reserves is to face life squarely; and to find and to reach the best—quite a large order for these younger girls. The officers: Audrey Wilson, president; Jean Graham, vice president; Janet Steinmetz, secretary; Marilyn Estill, treasurer; and Mrs. Brockway and Miss VanNatta, advisers; have been working toward the fulfillment of this purpose.

The Junior Girl Reserves, meeting twice each month, have made scrap books for the Zem Zem hospital, have investigated suitable dress for the school girl, have sponsored a skating party, have had several informal get-togethers, parties, and tureen suppers, and, along with the Seniors, attended the "Hanging of the Greens" at the Y. W. C. A.

The Best of . . .

Because of the decline of culture in Germany, it has become doubly important that we here in America do all we can to keep it from sinking into oblivion. The German Club is doing just that. Its purpose is to aid German students in getting a broader idea of life and culture in Old Germany than is possible in the limited time allotted in class; and to relate them both in life and culture in our own country.

The club, with its many activities, has proved to be an excellent way of maintaining an interest in the study of German. A few of many interesting programs include songs, poems, plays, skits, games, and stories, all of German origin. The membership requirements are high, members being required to maintain an A average during the first semester, a B during the second semester, a C during the third semester, and a D during the fourth semester.

Much of the credit for the success of this year's German Club is due to the excellent work of its officers: Walter Wollman, president; Louise Kingsbury, vice president; Isabelle Reed, secretary; Richard Nelson, treasurer; and Miss Kohout, faculty adviser.

. . . the Old World . . .

Since new emphasis has been placed on both our commercial and social relationships with South America, many more people have become interested in learning to speak Spanish, which is the language spoken throughout the South American continent. To satisfy the demands of numerous Vincentites, Spanish was introduced to our course of study.

Along with the class came the organization of the Spanish Club, whose varied and attractive programs have brought to its members much valuable and interesting information, supplementary to their class work. At its monthly meetings, informal discussions of the language, customs, literature, and culture have promoted a more friendly feeling toward our Spanish-speaking neighbors.

The club officers: Mildred Rubner, president; Beverly Rouse, vice president; Nancy Peck, secretary; Michael McKay, treasurer; and Miss Wright and Miss Bourquin, advisers; have done a fine job in making this organization one of which Vincent may well be proud, and we believe that with the enrollment of new Spanish classes in the fall the club will grow to be one of Vincent's foremost language clubs.

. . . for a Better New

The aim of the Dante Club is to develop, increase, and circulate a knowledge of the cultural heritage of Italy through its language, art, music, and history. To encourage interest in these fields, the students have access to books, pictures, records, and an almost complete realia collection. The regular business meeting of the club is held the first Thursday of each month. On the other Thursdays of the month the members are invited to make use of this material.

Some students read Italian stories, some listen to records of the Italian operas, while others may study the numerous pictures available. In this way the club establishes close social bonds among its members as well as holding their continued interest.

The ambition of the Dante Club has been to attend an Italian opera in Cleveland, and toward this end the officers: Mary Ann Landi, president; Philomena Marucci, vice president; Carmelita Metz, secretary; and Joseph Mannino, treasurer; have directed their money-making projects, which have included a very successful skating party.

Discovering Yesterday, Today

History is the telling of past events. The story of how Erie, our own city, has grown from a dense wilderness into a thriving metropolis is a fascinating tale. The purpose of the Junior Historical Society is to acquaint the members of the organization with historical Northwestern Pennsylvania, and to make them realize what an important role this section has played in the growth of our nation.

Under the skillful leadership of Miss Foust, the club was organized and the following students were elected to office: President, James Schuster; Vice President, Joan Shread; Secretary, Dorothy Blakeslee; and Treasurer, William Arbuckle. These officers arranged and presented programs concerning historical places in Erie.

One member of the society attended lectures conducted by the Senior Historical Society of Erie County and gave a resume of the speeches at the meeting following each of the lectures. The group went on tours to the Court House and City Hall so that they might better understand the administration of city and county affairs.

Practicing Practical Figures

Business, business, business—a common but such a very important word. The members of the Bookkeeping Club are discovering this in their meetings and activities. The meetings, discussions, classes, and conferences with business people help the interested students to attain a valuable knowledge of business and its requirements and of general office information.

This year the members have toured the Security-People's Trust Co., the Court House in the Department of Records, and the Boston Store. They have heard a speaker from the National Cash Register Co., thereby receiving favorable impressions of the ever-dominant business world. The meetings are scheduled for the second week of every month at such times and places as are convenient.

Under the supervision of Miss Schade the Executive Board made the arrangements for the programs. During the first semester they were: Charles Loesch, President; Gilda Addessi, Vice President; Shirley Robson, Secretary; Donald Anderson, Treasurer; and Margaret Donahue, Corresponding Secretary. Robert Nichols was elected Treasurer and Elsie Schurtz, Corresponding Secretary for the second semester.

Proving Your Point

The subject is announced; the speaker rises and presents his viewpoint; the questions of the opposing team fly thick and fast; the second speaker rises—on and on, viewpoint after viewpoint. Members of the Debating Club experience this tenseness and alertness every time a debate is scheduled.

The question most in evidence in 1940-1941 was, "Resolved: That the Federal Powers of the United States Government Be Increased." The purpose of the club is to train students in the practice of debate and public speaking. It does much more; it encourages future citizens to seek the viewpoint of others; to consider both sides of the question; it makes them think and make decisions rapidly.

The Vincent debating team is a member of the Lake Erie Debating League and meets with Mr. Pratt, their adviser, every Friday during sixth period. Maxine Carlson, President; Lillian Necci and William Hetico, Vice Presidents; Nancy Berg, Secretary; Edith Lavery and Jack Schaffner, Business Managers, compose the Executive Board. The Junior Varsity Team supplies the substitutes.

The social life of the club members is not neglected, and a picnic is held toward the end of the second semester. The high-light of the season is the trip to Allegheny for a banquet and the opportunity to hear more experienced debaters.

Vincent's Three o'clock Lunch

There is at Vincent a group of girls who receive very little recognition in spite of their faithful work during the year. Three ever cheerful candy sellers are stationed daily from three to three-fifteen at strategic places in the school. Their service helps to make it possible for Vincent students to have that delightful after-school snack from a selection of the most pleasing confections.

With the funds earned by their willing efforts these girls have helped to make our band and choir the outstanding organizations that they are; for the money raised annually by their efforts has helped to buy uniforms, robes and instruments. By patronizing our candysellers, we are helping to make these and other activities successful.

This method of raising funds for the Student Council has been most effective; and it has been a steady source of income, depended on by Council. Each Vincent student, when he feels that urge for a delicious confection, should show his appreciation and gratitude to this threesome by supporting Vincent's own confectioners. Let's all give three cheers for the candysellers; and Miss Wright and Miss Mercer, their advisers.

Beginners in Service

An inspiring and effective organization at Vincent is the Junior Red Cross. This group has flourished and advanced this year under the leadership of Miss Barber. Especially important at this time is the much appreciated service rendered by a group of capable Vincent girls; in order that they might give aid to many distressed, less fortunate persons, these girls have given their time and efforts.

Among various useful activities the students have sent to blind children animals which they fashioned and stuffed themselves. Knitting is usually associated with Red Cross work, and the Junior Red Cross of Strong Vincent is no exception. Much leisure time was spent by members in knitting squares for some worthy cause to be later selected.

It is unnecessary to say that for the earnest devotion of these girls the student body is very grateful. This service, at a time when it is so greatly needed, will not pass by without due mention and recognition. We all sincerely thank those belonging to this organization and are confident that their good work will continue to be a credit to our school.

Stories in Stamps

Last year under the guidance of Mr. Wallace, the Stamp Club of Strong Vincent was organized. This group is composed of those who are interested in the collecting of stamps as a hobby. Many students who follow this hobby and who are not already members of the club would find the organization of decided advantage and interest. The collector's field has especially been widened recently because of the issuance of many new commemorative stamps.

Every Thursday the club meets, thus affording a chance for discussions and the exchanging of stamps among its members. In this way the collectors are encouraged both to expand their collections and to further their interest in the stamps of various countries of the world. From time to time members have been aided in their collecting by various notable speakers.

This club justifiably boasts many commendable members, a few of whom have sold parts of their collections at admirable prices. The officers of the club are few, but efficient. James Schuster is president while William Yapple is secretary. Mr. Wallace is the club's faculty adviser.

A Helping Hand . . .

Are you in the habit of throwing your clothes in a hopeless heap and dashing out the front door in the morning? Leave your swim suit wrong-side out and just try to get out the door of the gym dressing room.

Miss Weinheimer's monitors are always there on the job, checking and rechecking on your carelessness and mine. Though our mistakes add spice to their life, they are quick to remind us and cheerful in setting us aright.

An earnest desire to be a part of the life around the gym and pool draws these girls to service. Filling the requirement of willingness to cooperate, the junior and senior girls volunteer to help during a study period. It is an exception for a sophomore to be accepted unless she has spent her junior high years in active interest. In the gym, time is occupied with refereeing and keeping score, while in the dressing room, floors are mopped and order prevails. In all this, Miss Weinheimer says, her monitors are a real help.

. . . Lightens Routine Burdens . . .

"J, K, L,—let's see—Tennyson." Again the monitors are the ones who have made your life easier. Library books are on their proper shelves because the monitors did not want Louisa May Alcott to stay in the company of Alfred Lord Tennyson. They're responsible, too, for the preservation of your favorites long after their first shining appearances. With mending tape and scissors they go to the rescue of the too well-loved pages, repairing the damage done by over-eager or careless fingers.

The courteous librarian behind the desk who checks books also goes by the name of monitor but she is only one of the three regular monitors of each period who have volunteered to give one period a day to assisting Miss Wilson. The other two take turns in collecting admits at the study hall door. These girls are interested in their work because they like to be with people; because they like to be with books. Among them they find the experience of working in the efficient atmosphere of a library, pleasant and worthwhile.

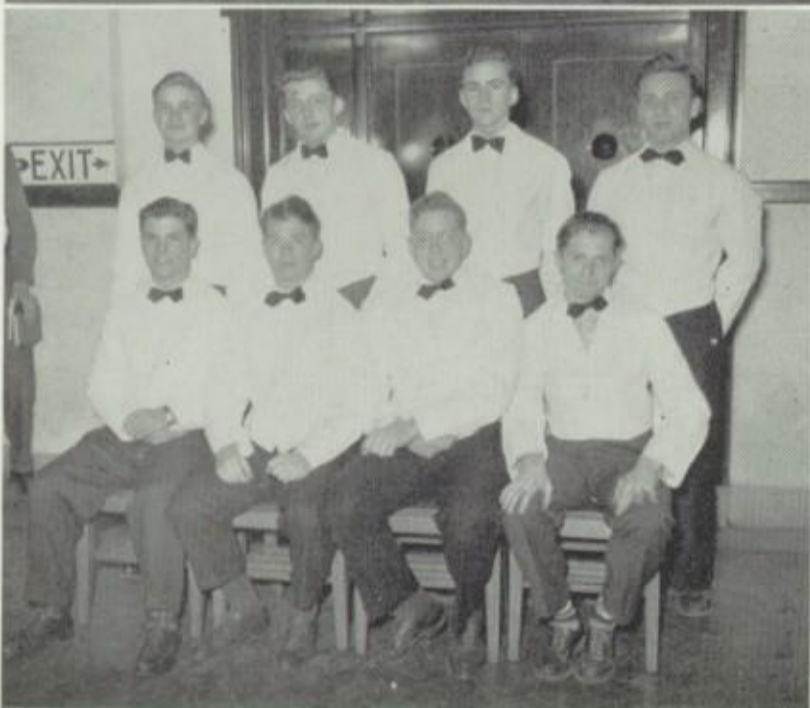

. . . Strengthens Faculty-Student Ties

Do you have a one track mind? Then you'd never make an office monitor. The office monitor has to be anywhere and everywhere; coming and going and still know if she's coming or going. Hers is the business so important to the school, and therefore dependability must outshine all her other traits. In those precious moments during which she is not on the run, she is expected to make herself generally useful around the office. If she has nimble typing fingers and a pleasant telephone voice, all the better, for she may be asked to take dictation, type, or even answer the phone any minute in the name of Miss Connell or Mr. Anderson, two of the school's busiest.

Miss Mercer and Mr. Gustavson do their bit in keeping monitors busy for the first and sixth periods on attendance records. These students pry into files, make calls of investigation, and even notify the truant officer when Johnny is absent without a legitimate excuse. You will know when the culprit has turned up by the smug expression on our sleuth's face. The trail is exciting but the joy in service is greater. Hats off to the office monitors or off they'll fly as the girls go whizzing by.

Curtain at 8:30

As the official hosts and representatives of our student body, the ushers are responsible for the first impression which the public will receive of our school. They are present at all assemblies, seating visitors and those pupils without regularly assigned seats. At concerts, plays, and other special performances, these same boys, very neatly dressed in white jackets and dark trousers, can be seen courteously seating guests and seeing that late-comers are quietly admitted. Another of their numerous duties on these occasions is making sure that the reserved sections are occupied only by those for whom they are intended. Although ushers come and go, under the direction of Mr. Shanor, each succeeding group carries on the good work of those who have gone before.

Few people are able to realize how indispensable the stage crew is to school life. The proper timing and smooth handling of the many different lights about the stage and auditorium is in itself a considerable task. At the same time that some members of the crew are taking care of the lights, their fellow workers are busily engaged in placing scenery and stage properties in their proper positions, or opening and closing the curtains.

For every rehearsal or performance taking place in the school auditorium, the boys of the crew are at their posts, either high up in the control room, or still higher up on the catwalk. Mr. Shanor, who is the faculty adviser, trains and directs the boys in their work. To become a useful member of the crew, it is his opinion that a boy must be handy, diligent, and interested in his work. For all their labors, the only reward which they receive is the experience gained in the operation of stage equipment, and in the handling and construction of scenery.

Jane Addams

MELODY CRUISE: Vida (Loretta Young) Rodriguez and Bette (Greta Garbo) Whitney with their sailor escort arrive at the Premiere. Sailors and sailorettes in their snappy tap dance with comely Jane Lytle and Jeanne Holland in the lead positions. As the boat docks in France, the masked carnival revellers swing onto the deck. Eugene Mercier and Bette Davis create quite a sensation as they add emphasis to the script. A line-up of the cast as they appear in the final scene: Sperry, Sprickman, Inman, Skinner, Lund, Krimmel, Brugger, Peterman, Morton, and Nichols.

“Melody Cruise”

The spell of the footlights, the smell of grease paint, the roar of applause, and once again the acting blood of Vincent rises to the call—this time to star in a new fall production headed by Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Bierbach, local directors.

The entire performance takes place on the good ship “S. S. Explorer” owned by one Mrs. E. Burton (Audrey Seaward) and her husband “yes dear” Egbert (James Sperry) who are about to begin a world cruise. Among those invited is a young newspaper columnist, Toots Bailey (Kay Sprickman) who, from sheer force of habit, uncovers a rumor of a thief aboard ship. Due to the mysterious disappearance of a necklace and a bracelet, the rumor soon becomes a reality; and the whole party splits into groups of watchful suspicion.

Toots suspects both Tom Fields (Sumner Nichols) and that idiotical Englishman “Swapsey” Oldham (Gregory Inman); Miss Basslett (Elaine Peterman) and Miss Turner (Ann Mead), two old maids, are positive of the First Mate’s (Eugene Mercier) guilt. Pretty Sally Morton (Marjorie Morton) is blind to everything but her love for Tom, and his inability to win over her Mother’s (Roberta Scott) consent to their marriage. Mrs. Newell (Dolly Skinner) is very worried too—about a man—any man; while flippant Sue Fields (Bette Davis) is in the midst of a heated campaign for the heart of the First Mate.

Sailors Ike (John Lund), Mike (Mark Brugger) and Spike (Arthur Matteson), under the watchful eye of their suave captain (Harry Krimmel) watch with interest, and their own very personal comments, at this unexpected turn of events. They are among the most astonished on the boat when Mr. Oldham suddenly doffs his disguise for his true identity, an agent of the F. B. I., and arrests the captain as the guilty man. This, of course, solves the mystery and all suspicion and distrust dissolve into friendship again. Then in rapid succession the problems of Sally and Tom, Sue and the First Mate, and even Toots and Spike are ironed out, so that the boat sails into port with "All Hands On Deck" happy.

During the "cruise" the "S. S. Explorer" stopped at various ports, enabling many colorful native choruses to come aboard and entertain the cruisers. These included Hawaiians, Japanese, French, Argentinans, as well as the patriotic Sailors and Sailorettes of America, who provided dances from the rumba to the hula.

Miss Sourwine, adviser; Jennie Marabito, chairman; and members of the ticket committee worked hard in the background distributing, selling, checking tickets. Mary McCandless and Virginia Douglass had the task of preparing and distributing the publicity necessary to make a success of this production.

MELODY CRUISE: Miss Turner (Ann Mead) and Miss Basslet (Eloise Peterman) chaperones on the cruise. When South America is reached, the smart Argentina chorus, led by Harry Fronzaglia, lends beauty and rhythm to the scene. Toots (Kay Sprickman) appraises the three comic sailors, Lund, Brugger and Matteson. Mr. Bierbach, Director, demonstrates just how he wants it done, while Mrs. Bierbach, stands by. The wily captain (Harry Krimmel) offers his sympathies to Mrs. Burton (Audrey Seward) and reassures the women passengers Sprickman, and Skinner.

A Circus comes to Vincent

Handicapped by the fact that their class was unusually small, the Play Committee of the February Seniors, under the chairmanship of Jack Osborn, decided to depart from the custom of presenting a class play, and were fortunate in being able to bring to Vincent instead, a truly unique show, the James M. Cole indoor circus.

On the evenings of November 21 and 22, a curious audience waited expectantly, and somewhat skeptically, for what they had been assured was a real, honest-to-godness circus. Their skepticism was short-lived. In the fifteen acts of this strictly professional performance, the school auditorium was effectively transformed into the fascinating sawdust ring.

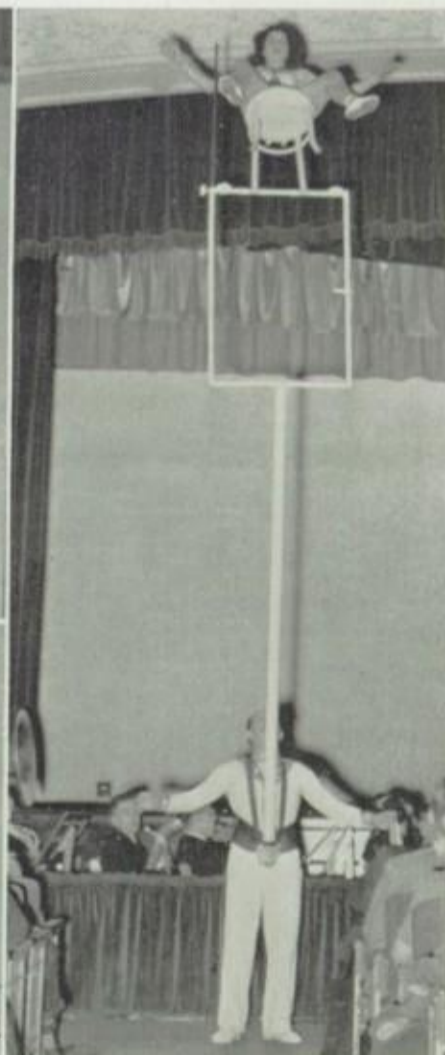

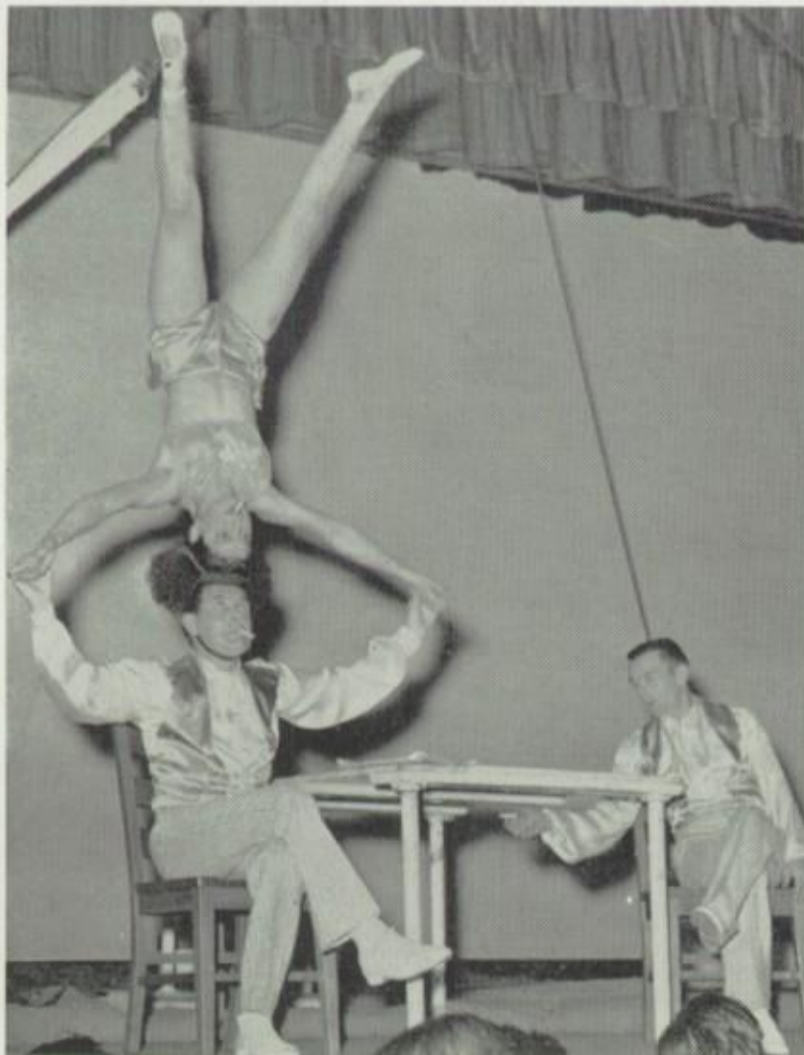

Perhaps the highlight of the show was the dog act handled by Mrs. Steele. With easy unconcern the alert little creatures went through a difficult routine with such nonchalance that many people acclaimed this the best dog act they had ever seen. The four trained horses of Buck Steele, specially shod for their appearance indoors, were enthusiastically received from the moment that they came on the stage, and their amazing intelligence completely won the circus-goers. Trapeze artists and tight rope walkers left the audience wide-eyed and breathless. Clowns were their inimitably riotous selves.

"Barkers" at cold drink stands and pretty girls in crisp white uniforms, who went among the audience selling big basketfuls of peanuts and popcorn, added to the "big top" atmosphere.

When the final flourish of the band proclaimed that the show was over, the peanut-munching crowd started regretfully home. But the spangle and glitter of the circus was not soon forgotten, and Ta-ra-ra-boom-de-ay was hummed at school for days afterwards.

CIRCUS: An amazing head stand by members of the famed Arley family; Mrs. Buck Steele and two of her trained dogs; Famed for his superb riding, Buck Steele presents his beautiful horse; "Stop at Nothing" seems to be the motto of the Arley's, as father and daughter again give a breath-taking act.

The football boys are all dressed up, and actually—they have a place to go—Watertown. They came back with the news of a tie and some tall stories of their good times . . . Unlucky election bettors Jerry Smith, Bill Kennedy, and John deWitt pushing peanuts down the hall during 6th period Spokesman class. Think they'll make it to the other end? The amused on-lookers are somewhat skeptical . . . Pat McCune slowly raises her lovely self, and Ruth Collins, her accompanist, watches as another act of the Spokesman program unfolds.

"Take it Easy"

The ninth annual Lee Winter production to be presented at Vincent gives a merry glimpse of back stage life. The cast of Take It Easy read over the script for the first time. Standing are: Patsy DeMatteo, magician turned janitor; Herbert Doud, general handy man; Dick Hoh, dance director; and Chester Brown, terpsichorean assistant. Seated are: Lee Winter, producer; Hugh Barr, whimsical pianist; Jean Grueza, gracious leading lady; Ernest Cray, leader of the "Duck Busters"; Joyce Coleman, show girl; Janet James, exotic French import; Pat James, insistent mother of an "undiscovered" child prodigy; and David Hodge, costume designer extraordinary. In the center is Gerry Smith, the child actress. What could be gayer than spring time in the park? Seated on the green are: McCune, Christensen, Edelman, and Hersperger. Standing behind them are: Howe, Miller, McDougall, Adams, Mosher, Fitting, Sternberg, and Bacon. Dressed as the soldier on a can of Flit, these girls give a smart military appearance as they stand at attention. Pencinger reviews Behnke, Greenlund, Brennan, Behringer, Seeler, Williams, Gardner, Hutchins, Thomas, Tempestini, Soltes, Krahnke, Mangiracina, Steinfurth, and Hurn. In an amusing scene, the producer of a play within a play, selects his show girls from a line of applicants. Nelson, Boyer, Christensen, Weiss, DeGeorge, O'Brien, Simer, and Robinson await their turn as Dorothy Puskus parades before Dick Hoh, Chester Brown, Bob Hines.

The fleet's in! The sailors and their sweethearts lend a gay note. Standing are: Miller, Flower, Phillips, Messenkopf, Sult, Motley, Dalrymple, Hanley, Ulrich, Fordham, Denton, Bourne, and Bellomini. Lucky Honard (seated) receives the attention of Dwelle and Schneider . . In the underground club rooms of the Duck Busters (they duck or we bust 'em) Nagle, Krimmel, Skapura, Cauley, Calabrese, Nyberg, Pflueger, Fuhrman, Gensheimer, Dunham, and Jewell watch the badly frightened Herbert Doud as leader Ernest Cray initiates him into the club . . Professor Herbert Doud instructs a bevy of "queens in calico." From left to right: Row 1: Nicosia, Kaveney, Gabrielson, Kohn. Row 2: Vitron, Holland, Perry, Ghisson. Row 3: Bolan, Paris, Dodsworth, DiNunzio. Row 4: Neeve, Rogers, DiFusco, LaFuria . . As a special treat, Mr. Winter brought his chorus of Winterettes all the way from Cumberland, Maryland, for this production. Tap and aerobic dancing, high kick and ballet were equally well done by these girls. From left to right: Kompanek, Thompson, Sapp, Browne, Shuck, Rafter, Post, Martin and Mannetta.

Council election of officers becomes even more democratic this year. Real honest-to-goodness voting machines are used . . . One of the nine beautiful silhouettes portrayed in the Christmas pageant. Miss Pearce and a group of her willing workers spent many long hours after school getting ready for the pageant . . . Measuring day for February Seniors. Shirley Armagost is measured for her cap as Dave Lewis, next in line, laughingly awaits his turn . . . Ernest Cray and Phyllis Wright holding the expressive tablet at the end of the Christmas pageant . . . Presidential Candidate Jennie Marabito helps to unveil some of the mysteries of the voting machine at the Council election . . . If Coach Kramer's football boys wondered during the season what he really thought of them, they certainly found out the day letters were given out. Some of those who seem to be taking it all in (?) are Roesch, Fabian, D., Gensheimer, Bevelacqua, D., and Conn . . . Another fine Council program—Versatile Mr. DeCostra played so many different instruments, we were a bit dazed (but aren't we usually?) . . . Graduation for February Seniors! Since everyone is a trifle excited, it is not strange that Greg Inman cannot put his cap on straight. Arlene Way tilts it to her satisfaction while Jean Pifer looks on.

JUNE CLASS PLAY TRYOUTS—Seated: Jones, Grad, Lewis, Foessett, Farver, Mercier, Kennedy, Fronzaglia. Standing: Davis, Ruschling, Braccini, Blakeslee, Swaney, Liden (behind Swaney), Coleman, Curry, Curtis (almost hidden), Crittenden, Yolgstadt, Whitney, Maginn . . . Jack Lewis, director, interviewing some hopefuls . . . Joyce Coleman caught in the midst of her tryout.

“What a Life”

From puppy love to misunderstandings with “unreasonable” teachers, all the problems of a typical high school boy were hilariously portrayed in the June Senior Class Play, “What a Life.”

Henry Aldrich, the leading character, was accused of stealing some instruments from the school band. It was the unraveling of the mystery of the theft, as well as winning the favor of the pretty little president of the junior class, around which the plot centered. The young assistant principal and the efficient, attractive secretary in the office provided the chief romantic interest.

The character roles in the play were many. These offered unusual chances for real acting ability, and our versatile seniors displayed much unsuspected talent. The humor of Henry’s predicaments, and the familiar characters of the supporting cast—the faculty members and students who have so many counterparts in our own school life—found a sympathetic audience.

To Jack Lewis, who directed “What a Life,” to Jean Swaney and Jim Phillips, the co-chairmen, and their committee; and to the faculty advisers, Miss Peters, Miss Evans, and Miss Schade, go the credit for the selection and production of one of the most successful class plays ever presented at Vincent.

"Vincent on Parade" opens with a clash of cymbals, a beating of drums and the clear notes of a trumpet as a swing band takes the auditorium by storm. Even those who dislike jazz clap enthusiastically for an encore. Bill Hetico and Dan Schitea, impersonating particularly mad Russians, give us more of their own brand of humor. Betty Davis and Bill Kennedy seem to be as amused as we are when Joe Calabrese goes through the wild antics of his "Donald Duck" skit. Under the supervision of the Pennsylvania State Police, driving tests were given the drivers and prospective drivers of Vincent. The purpose of this drive was to make our highways safer for motorist and pedestrian. When Larry Davison makes the chalk talk, you can never be quite sure of what sketch his nimble fingers will conjour out of charcoal and a piece of paper. Debating calls for clear thinking and strong convictions. Alan Nelson gives his carefully prepared analysis of the question to the visiting opposition. Once again our basketball team shows the Vincent Spirit as they struggle with the Tech team in a city series game. Bette Whitney gives a caricature sketch of a particularly enthusiastic baseball fan who is particularly ignorant of even the fundamentals of the game.

the best known name in paper

Since 1898, Hammermill has manufactured papers for American business.

For nearly thirty of those years, Hammermill Bond and other Hammermill papers have been advertised consistently and continuously, so that today the Hammermill trademark means good paper in the minds of millions of people in the United States and in many foreign countries.

Hammermill papers, made in Erie by Erie men and women, live up to that reputation.

This IS Commencement!

You have prepared your mind to learn ... Now, on to college ... or the beginning of a career in business or industry.

In spite of troubled times and uncertainty, these United States offer more opportunity today than ever before. A good rule is — Keep your eyes and ears open.. mouth shut... mind alert...and hands busy. Make friends! Then you will learn how to influence people. Be happy as well as dependable. Your success will be in just proportion to your efforts.
